1123 Tijeras Ave. NW

Tom and Dwight moved into the house in 1986 and have observed a lot of changes in the DNA over the years. There was a loss of residential housing along Lomas, Tijeras and Kent Avenues. They applaud the transformation of the Lowes Store from “grooty” to nice.

They enjoy the location of the house and are able to walk Old Town, the museums and downtown.

The house was built between 1912-13 by Amassa B. McGaffey, a lumber merchant with government leases in the Zuni mountains. The brick sidewalks were made in the prison in Santa Fe, and are the last in the city.
